Tips for Keeping Your Employees

There are currently more than six million unfilled jobs. Most likely, you have at least one employee who is looking. Although there is no magic bullet for keeping every employee, there are some things you can do to help keep employees happy.

D. Albert Brannen, in an exclusive article for Multibriefs, provides 10 tips that will help you retain your employees.

Perhaps the most important tip is to improve your onboarding process to set your new employee up for success in their role and the company.

Ensure your new employee receives a warm welcome from their co-workers and manager – emails or texts welcoming them and lunch on the first day makes a good impression. Take time to communicate so the new employee fully understands your expectations.

PT WORK Force® has onboarding checklists to help through the process.

Action Step:

Review the other nine tips for retaining your employees. Implement those that will work for your organization.
